Functional Outcomes and Patient Reported Outcomes for Pediatric Hand Surgery. Hand surgery presents unique challenges to pediatric orthopedists. In order to provide better surgical outcomes, we sought to evaluate functional outcomes as well as patient-reported outcomes (PROs) in a pediatric population. We performed a retrospective chart review of 100 consecutive pediatric patients (111 procedures) undergoing hand surgery from 2006-2012 at a single institution. Patients were followed for up to 4 years. Functional outcomes were evaluated with a validated patient questionnaire. In addition, patient-reported outcome measures of health-related quality of life (HRQOL) were collected (Child Health Questionnaire-Parent Form 50 [CHQ-PF50] and the Pediatric Outcomes Data Collection Instrument [PODCI]). Patients completed a questionnaire regarding their overall satisfaction with the surgery. The median age at surgery was 12 years (IQR: 7-16). The median time from surgery to questionnaire response was 8 months (IQR: 3-18). Mean DASH score was 6.6 (SD: 15.7). Mean EQ-5D (utility) was 0.77 (SD: 0.25). Overall, 49% of patients were very satisfied with their hand surgery. The median EQ-VAS was 83 (IQR: 61-100). Thirty-nine percent of patients reported symptoms from their surgery. The median CHQ-PF50 score was 99.8 (IQR: 79.4-106.7) and the median PODCI score was 99.8 (IQR: 77.0-106.7). Female patients had higher scores on the CHQ-PF50 (p=0.03). Patients who reported symptoms had lower scores on the CHQ-PF50 (p=0.02). Children undergoing hand surgery have lower HRQOL compared to normative data. However, a majority of patients were satisfied with their surgery. As hand surgery in pediatric patients continues to grow, the functional and PROs will continue to be of interest to assess and improve care. Level IV.Q: What does "relatively high" mean?
