Disk Pulse is a free and open-source disk monitoring application for Window...Kitty Beck Kitty Beck (born 27 April 1929) is an American singer and actress, best known for her appearances in the American TV series Make Room for Daddy. She was born in Brownsville, Texas, and later grew up in Trenton, New Jersey, and Los Angeles, California, with her parents and two older sisters. While attending UCLA in the late 1940s, she sang in the drag trio "Nancy & Kitty", which was popular on radio station KFWB. Career Kitty became better known after appearing on a Merv Griffin radio show, in 1949, when she answered the question "Who do you think are the greatest female vocalists of all time?" Her answer, "Nobody", won her the recognition. She hosted a radio show on CBS in the late 1950s, and was also one of the original members of The Town Criers. She married actor Richard Egan in 1953, the daughter of actor Fred Keating. The couple later divorced in 1969. Kitty had a daughter, Sara, in 1954 from her first marriage, and a son, Gregory, in 1958 from her second marriage to actor Ralph Meeker. In 1961 Kitty appeared on the CBS television show Make Room for Daddy, playing Daphne, and later an interior decorator. The show lasted only one season. Her other TV credits included The Big Valley, Perry Mason, and The Mod Squad. She made her film debut in the 1973 comedy spoof The Sting II. Filmography Film Television References
